FAQs for FEDERAL TECHNICIAN positions

What are the Benefits?

As a federal employee, you can expect the following benefits:

- Retirement under the FERS system
- Thrift Savings plan; up to 5% match of contributions
- Low cost health insurance
- Federal Employees Group Life Insurance Program (FEGLI)
- Authorized 120 hours for military leave
- Military service counts towards retirement

How much is the pay?

The pay varies based on the position you apply for. Generally speaking, the ANG offers many of the same jobs available on active duty, including: human resource specialist (Personnel), motor vehicle operator, aircraft electrician, and aircraft mechanic. The salaries range from $15.52 - $30.83 per hour depending on overall experience in that particular field.

What items are required in the application?

Each vacancy announcement spells out the requirements for the position in the “How to Apply” section. Many of the positions require you to submit an Online Qualifications Questionnaire and a resume. Also, be sure to upload any supporting documentation (college transcripts, DD214, etc.) that will further demonstrate your qualifications.

FAQs for Active Guard Reserve positions

What are the Benefits?

The same benefits you received on active duty to include: Tricare medical, 30-days of leave, and 20-year retirement.

How much is the pay?

The pay is based on your overall rank or grade. For instance, if you are a SSgt, you will receive the equivalent of an active duty Air Force member who receives base pay, BAH, and BAS.

What items are required in the application?

Each vacancy announcement spells out the requirements for the position in the “Instructions for applying” section. All of the positions require you to submit the following:

• NGB Form 34-1 Application for Active Guard/Reserve (AGR) Position. Announcement number and position title must be annotated on this form.

• Copy of Records Review RIP within last 30 days. May be obtained from your Personnel Records at your unit. For Air Force/Air National Guard you can obtain your Records Review RIP from your Military Personnel Fight or go to <http://www.afpc.randolph.af.mil/vs/> (RIP must show your ASVAB scores and awarded AFSCs).

• Official Physical Fitness Assessment within last 12 months (Must have a satisfactory score).

How do I get started?

Active Duty Air Force members must contact the Air National Guard In-Service Recruiter (ISR) for their base; this recruiter is located at the Force Support Squadron. They will start the process and get you in touch with one of the 144th FW recruiters.
